

LENAPE DISTRICT ZOMBIE INVASION

WHEN: OCTOBER 21- 23, 2016
WHERE: CAMP NOBEBOSCO

It has happened! Zombies have been sighted in Lenape District and are rumored to be heading into the surrounding areas. Boy Scouts are advised to seek immediate shelter at the Emergency Zombie Survival Area at Camp Nobebosco. Bring your own gear and rations to survive the weekend. The only thing for certain in a Zombie Apocalypse is that nothing is for certain. Remember that the best chance for survival is to “Be Prepared”! Stay tuned to Emergency Broadcast Notices for further updates.

Every Zombie survivalist knows that you have to sacrifice the few to save the many. Each Troop needs to sacrifice one adult (more would be appreciated) to help run our events.

The Scout Oath and Law will govern the behavior of all participants during this Camporee. The principles of Leave No Trace should be practiced all weekend.

ZOMBIE INVASION EVENTS

A zombie attack is probably the hardest challenge you will ever face. Zombies (or the “undead” as they prefer to be known) are notoriously difficult to kill because they are not actually alive. Humans turn into zombies from a Zombie virus, which travels "through the bloodstream, from the initial point of entry to the brain". The virus ceases all bodily functions and mutates the brain into an organ that does not need oxygen. Thus, the essentially deceased person will become the living dead, with an insatiable drive to consume human flesh. A person can only become infected through "direct fluidic contact", including bites and direct contact with zombie wounds and remains with open wounds on humans.

It's up to you to save humanity from the Zombies. Ask your Scoutmaster for instructions (unless he is already a Zombie). Having your daypack with the necessary survival gear available at all times will be critical. All patrol members should carry a water bottle to prevent dehydration. Dehydration slows you down and slowpokes are more likely to be eaten by Zombies. As you go through the events you will have your patrol's Zombie Defense Passport stamped at each event with the points you have earned. Bring your passport to the Survival Area HQ at the end of the day. The points earned at each event by your Patrol will determine if you qualify for the final apocalyptic confrontation of Undead Head.

Event Stations:

Infected Leader: Each unit had leaders and SPL's at the Camporee HQ when it was overrun. Each patrol will need to capture one of their infected, but stunned, leaders or SPL and bring him to the new HQ to be administered the cure. Directions on how to safely capture, secure and transport a Zombie will be provided.

Pyromania: Fire is very good at limiting the spread of the Zombie virus, but steps need to be taken to ensure that the fire does not spread, nor that it attracts too much attention to the new HQ. With all of your matches ruined by drooling Zombies, you have a few basic supplies to get a flame going fast. Use the items provided at the station along with materials found in your daypack (except paper) to invoke a flame. A quick review of burn first-aid will also help you score additional points.

Dixon's Aim: One of the greatest defenders against zombies is Daryl Dixon. He has left instructions on how to attack the zombies using old fashioned bows and arrows. Score points at the target range shooting zombie brains.

Monster Mash: You and your Patrol find yourselves in the midst of a full-fledged Zombie outbreak. Zombies have been seen swarming the area, attacking, and leaving numerous injured. Your Patrol comes across an “Army Mash” unit, being overwhelmed and in chaos. A medic will call upon your patrol to use their first aid training from Tenderfoot, Second Class, and First Class requirements to help treat a patient. Once the patient has been treated, your patrol will need to make a portable stretcher and move the patient to the Extraction Point.

Defend the Camp: Listen up, Scout! There's only one thing standing between a Zombie horde and your brains, weapons know-how. That is why you want to train with available weapons! Test your accuracy with throwing axes to make sure you can defend yourself. We've located a stash of Zombie Heads that we need you to take out.

Be Prepared or Prepare to Be Prepared (for Zombie lunch):

There are many types of disasters and emergencies: floods, fires, earthquakes, hurricanes and tornadoes. Unfortunately, this time it's Zombies. You've just heard on TV that Zombies are in your neighborhood. Be prepared to be stuck in your house for a few days –unless the Zombies find you –then you'll have to run to safety with your pack. You have to properly compile a Ten Essentials bug-out pack. Select items to pack and only pack what is appropriate. Don't waste any time (the Zombies are here and you need to go now). There may be additional recommended supplements to the ten essentials that could be included for bonus points.

Escape Through the Barbed Wire: There are Zombies all around and you need to get from one area to the other without touching the Zombie Barrier. Work your way through holes in a barb wire web without touching the wire, one hole for each team member (or you sound the alarm and the Zombies know where you are). Hurry up. You only have so much time before the Zombies find you anyways. How many of your patrol members can escape to safety before time runs out?

Signal for Rescue: The Zombie Apocalypse has started and the world is in chaos. Your patrol needs to get to some place safe and NOW. Luckily, there are helicopters flying all around you but they don't see your patrol. Be able to use a signal mirror to attract attention. Make visual signs so that a helicopter knows where it can land to pick you up and that you need rescued. Do you know the internationally understood distress signals or will they mistake you for Zombies and fly off?

Move the Zombie Head: Wow!! – Your patrol has found a zombie head and you must dispose of it safely without spreading the virus. Can you safely pick up the head and place it in the biohazard container without getting near it? Remember, Zombie heads can still bite and infect you. Don't forget to work together as a Patrol, or the head you lose may be your own.

Improve Your Fortifications: You've managed to make it to the Survival Area, but now you need to fortify it to protect against the oncoming Zombie Hordes! Make sure you know your square, round, and diagonal lashings, as they are the only way to create a barrier across the opening between you and the Zombies!

Undead Head: The game Dodgeball has become infected. Don't worrying about a ball touching you; you have to keep the Zombie head from biting you. Two sets of "Infection Matches" will be played simultaneously on separate courts until we get our top two surviving patrols to face off. See who makes it and who doesn't. Competition will begin when the Zombie Apocalypse ends.

Essential Daypack Items for Each Patrol:

- Passport
- Pencil and spiral bound notebook
- Steel wool in Ziploc bag
- 15 feet of rope
- Tinder for fire-starting (no chemical or paraffin additives)
- Scout Book
- Blank CD
- Nine volt battery
- Three triangular bandages,
- Patrol first aid kit including latex gloves
- Ziploc bags for storing the parts of the "Cure" and Defense Passport
- Energy snacks for morning and afternoon

Additional Activities:

Zombie Theater: Every Troop is encouraged to have a skit at the campfire on Saturday night. Most importantly...EVERY skit must contain something about Zombies! It's time to get creative with a new skit or by reworking some of those old skits that we see every Camporee. Costumes are encouraged.

Make Your Own Zombie T-Shirt: Each troop should prepare their shirts prior to the Camporee.

Instructions for making a Zombie T-Shirt:

1. Tear your t-shirt. A zombie won't be walking around in a perfect, clean t-shirt. Study the shirt and determine where you'd like to tear the fabric. Pick locations that won't overexpose you and that will be comfortable.
2. Use scissors to cut into the fabric as the shirt can't be easily torn. Scissors can widen the tears and help to create a frayed effect on the shirt. Don't over-cut and be sure that the slices in the clothing aren't too perfect.
3. Place fake blood in strategic locations on your t-shirt. Because fake blood has a tendency to dry lighter on fabric, you will need to apply several coats of blood in order to achieve a more realistic color.
4. Rub dirt on your shirt so that it will have a more stained appearance. Zombies will be rough as they hunt their prey, so you need to make the shirt look as if it has been through many encounters.

You can also push the t-shirt against grass in order to add grass stains to the material.

5. Check the back of the shirt to make sure that you have cut and stained that surface, too. Don't just focus on the front of the shirt because the back should reflect the hard times that zombies also encounter.

Costume Challenge: Turn one of your adult leaders into a terrifying Zombie. Some say that all adult scout leaders look like Zombies after a day or so in the woods with Scouts! See if you can't help them to look a little more Zombie-like. Costume and make-up are by the youth, the leader is just the model!

Awards:

Zombie Spirit/Costume Contest

To be held at evening campfire and includes the above t-shirts and make-up. This award will go to the Troop with the highest percentage of participating individuals combined with the best costumes/make-up and the leader most like a Zombie from the above Costume Challenge.

Zombie Cook Off

Every unit needs to produce a main dish, dessert, or appetizer based on the Zombie theme. These will be judged by the camporee staff at supper on Saturday. The recipe should be included with every submittal. Please be aware that poisoning of the staff will not be looked upon favorably and is grounds for disqualification.

Zombie Apocalypse Survival Team Champions

Who will lead and save the human race in the event of a Zombie invasion? This award will go to the patrol that earns the most points during the day's events.

Undead Head Champions

Who is the ultimate survivor of the Infection Matches? The last patrol standing will receive this award.
